THE LIBRARY TABLE

with the
VICON
"WRAP-AROUND"
TOP

The table you see is Sjöström's latest library innovation...the "wrap-around" table. So named because the VICON top wraps right around the edges as shown. VICON is resilient—makes a superb writing surface, bounces back when banged. It won't glare at you even in intense light. It's so tough you can walk on it but never, never would. Because it's beautiful. "Wrap-around" tables can be rectangular, in various sizes, or triangular as shown. Details on this and other library units are waiting for your query.

THE REALIST AT WAR

(The mature years of William Dean Howells, 1885-1920) by Edwin H. Cody

America's cultural and historical development through several critical decades is traced in this life-study of the Dean of American Letters, William Dean Howells. The second volume of Dr. Cody's biography of this great man deals with the final 35 years of a long and productive career... it emphasizes Howells' canny observations of society and his shrewd ability to sense and analyze the contemporary literary scene.

Edward Harrison Cody, professor of English at Syracuse University, has been compiling data on William Dean Howells since 1940. He is the author or editor of a number of books, including several on Stephen Crane. 280 pp.

JOURNALISM TOMORROW

edited by Wesley C. Clark

Here is no off-the-cuff prediction of journalism, but a comprehensive study of all its phases and a serious evaluation of the future of mass communication. The weekly paper, the daily, syndicates, broadcasts journalism, magazine journalism, new horizons in advertising, and photo-journalism are all discussed at length by authorities in each field. Publishers, editors, and station managers, advertisers, salesmen, photographers, newscasters, reporters, and everyone who has a stake in the news will find this book a must. October 1958 200 pp. $4.00 T

MY STEPHEN CRANE

Personal Reminiscences of Stephen Crane

by Corwin K. Linson

Edited, with introduction by Edwin H. Cody

A fresh and enlightening glimpse into the life and mind of Stephen Crane by one of his closest confidants in whose New York apartment, Crane formulated his classic, THE RED BADGE OF COURAGE. Rich with dialogues recorded years ago and full of astute observations, this book is a rare portrait of a many-faceted young man. A book seller's gem. Photographs. 120 pp. $3.50 T.

Guest Editorial . . .

As a former conference chairman, it is a particular pleasure to tell you about the excellent program for our Chicago convention during Easter Week. Brother Arthur L. Goerdt, CLA vice-president, and the Section Chairmen have arranged that our theme, "The Catholic Library and the Intellectual Life," be treated in various and interesting ways by outstanding speakers.

At Buffalo, the Illinois Unit officers were eager that an invitation be extended to the University of Chicago's famed Catholic layman, Dr. Jerome G. Kerwin. Considered one of the outstanding Christian scholars in America, Dr. Kerwin is surely a fine choice to interpret our theme at the Conference Luncheon. You will recall his work with the National Conference of Christians and Jews, as Director of the Walgreen Foundation, and his many books and articles on political science and current affairs.

Before Father Mallon left for Bolivia, he warmly recommended to the program committee Father John F. McConnell of the Maryknoll Seminary at Glen Ellyn. A Scripture scholar, Father McConnell will speak at the first session on "The Bible and the Intellectual Life."

For the College Section's meetings, which are open to all interested, Father Redmond Burke of DePaul University has engaged a brilliant slate headed by Father John A. O'Brien, prolific writer and dynamic speaker. Catholic librarians are familiar with Father O'Brien's many biographies of converts, from The Road to Damascus to Giants of the Faith. His volumes on apologetics, marriage, and other subjects are our staple wares. We recall that it was Father O'Brien who, many years ago, first emphasized the great need of scholarship among Catholics, a point developed more recently by Monsignor Ellis, Bishop Wright and others.

Also on the College program are these distinguished Catholic scholars: Henry Rago, editor of Poetry; Father Norman Weyand, Catholic Renaissance authority; and CLA's Monsignor Harry Koenig who will not now discuss seminary libraries, nor papal documents, nor the CPI, but "Intellectual Life in the Parish."

This year, practically every speaker is in Who's Who, befitting our theme and making life simpler for chairmen. The Hospital Section boasts Dr. Herbert Ratner of Loyola's Medical School and Helen T. Yast of the American Hospital Association. The Elementary Section headlines Eleanor Ahlers, AASL's Executive Secretary; Edwin B. Colburn, Wilson's Chief of Indexing Services; and Dan Herr, who needs no identification. Both the Elementary and the High School groups are stressing work with gifted students. The latter has the Pre-Conference Day and the former group highlights, of course, the first Regina Award Luncheon, also on Monday.

For full information on the above programs and for all those I cannot mention here, I refer you to the detailed outline in this issue. Library science teachers and administrators, catalogers, parish and seminary librarians as well as members of four religious orders will find programs of special interest. And for all of us, there will be the exhibits and opportunities for rewarding professional and social contacts.

- "A Report on American Culture," a symposium, will be co-sponsored by the Thomas More Association of Chicago and Rosary College, River Forest, Illinois on June 13-14, 1959, at Rosary College.

Featured speakers at the symposium will be: Rev. Gustave Weigel, S.J., noted lecturer, Professor of Ecclesiology, School of Divinity, Woodstock College, and author of the forthcoming book, Faith and Understanding in America; John P. Shanley, Radio-Television Editor of The New York Times; Paul Hume, Music Editor of The Washington Post and Times Herald and author of Catholic Church Music; Charles Bracelen Flood, novelist, author of Love Is a Bridge, A Distant Drum and the forthcoming Tell Me, Stranger; Jean Charlot, artist, Professor of Art, University of Hawaii; Richard Breen, motion picture writer, former President of the Screen Writers' Guild, winner of an Academy Award for Screen Writing; and Leo Brady, Dramatist, author of The Edge of Doom, by the Drama Department, Catholic University of America. Their purpose will be to report on their respective fields of cultural expression to the end of presenting an overall critique of contemporary American culture, set in a Christian frame of reference.

Discussion chairmen for the seven sessions of the symposium will be: W. B. Ready, Director of Libraries, Marquette University, author of the novel, The Poor Hater; Thomas Stritch, Head, Department of Communication Arts, University of Notre Dame; Rev. Benedict Ashley, O.P., Professor of Theology, Pontifical Faculty, Dominican House of Studies, River Forest; Sister Mary Peter, O.P., former President, Rosary College; Nina Polcyn, Director, St. Benet's, Chicago; Arthur C. Becker, Dean, School of Music, DePaul University; and Len O'Connor, NBC News, Chicago.

Registration forms and complete details may be obtained from: "Symposium Co-Director, The Thomas More Association, 210 West Madison Street, Chicago 6, Illinois.

- The Council on Library Resources, Inc. has made a grant of $200,000 to the Library of Congress to initiate work on a National Union Catalog of Manuscript Collections. It is hoped that this catalog will eventually record all collections of manuscripts held by libraries and archives in the United States. The immediate goal is to bring together uniform descriptions of some 24,000 known collections in approximately 75 cooperating repositories, in addition to some 3,000 collections in the Library of Congress itself, and to print and sell separate catalog cards for each of these collections so that any library that wishes to do so may maintain a similar record.
- Audio Visual Education, a non-profit Apostolic Endeavor founded by Father George Nell and sponsored by the Third Order for the Purpose of Helping Priests, Sisters and Lay Catechists obtain the most modern tools for teaching religious and secular subjects has issued a catalog of its film strips which are available on a subscription basis. Write to AVE, Parish Activities Service, 15920 Grand River Avenue, Detroit 27, Michigan for further information.

- A new national magazine subscription service limited exclusively to Catholic publications was announced this week in St. Paul, Minnesota. The Catholic Magazine Subscription Service is now being tested in schools and parishes throughout the country according to F. Robert Edman, president of Summit Press, Inc., the firm sponsoring the plan.

The new service will offer for the first time a cooperative Catholic sales program divorced from secular publications. The magazine service will be presented by a new sales organization of 45 men representing Summit Press. Catholic Magazine Subscription Service will operate somewhat on the order of existing magazine subscription services. It will depend on the cooperation of the pastors and the school sisters. The service is offered to lay Catholics through the churches, parish organizations, dealers and schools.

At the present time all publications handled through Catholic Magazine Subscription Service are general interest, family type magazines. Other more specialized type Catholic publications will be added to the service within a few months.

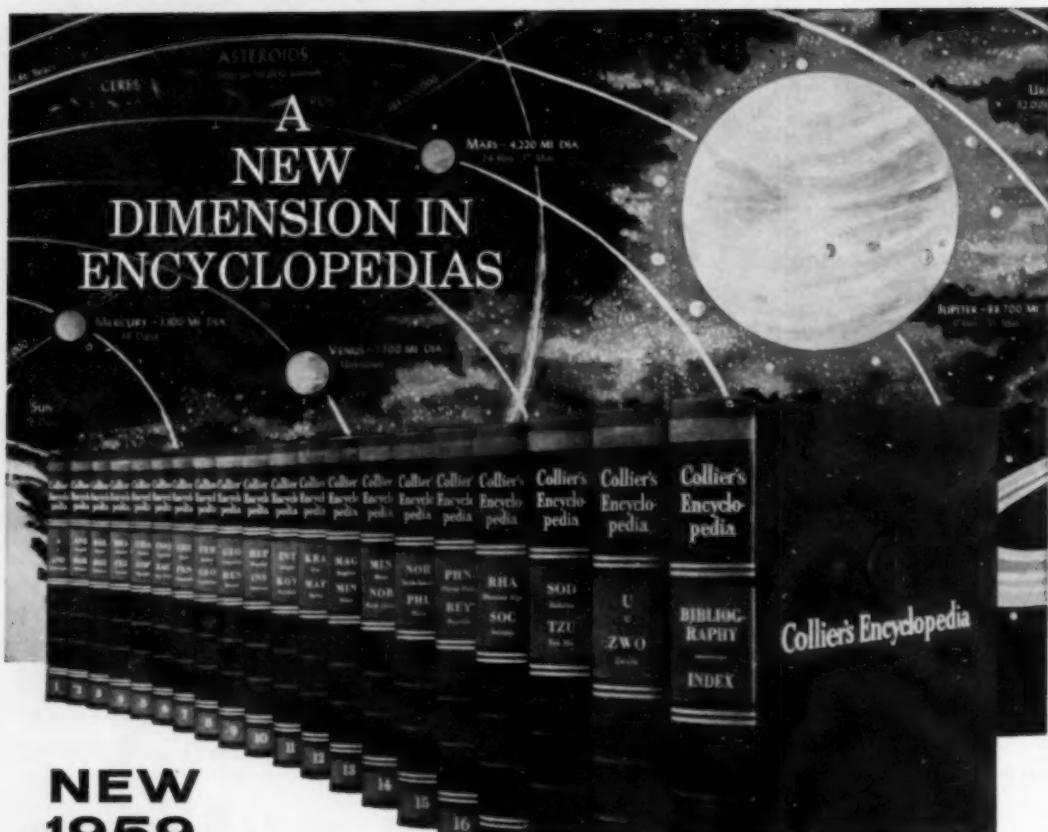

Groups interested in knowing more about the program should write to: CATHOLIC MAGAZINE SUBSCRIPTION SERVICE, c/o Summit Press, Inc., 2324 University Avenue, St. Paul 4, Minnesota.

- The Immaculate Heart College, Los Angeles, has received the private library of the late Mrs. Edward L. Doheny. The collection is rich in art, architecture, fine presses and print books. This collection, with the many other books formerly given to the library by Mrs. Doheny, will be placed in a memorial room in the library especially designed to exhibit this collection.

The library of the late Dr. Joaquin Ortega, professor emeritus of the University of New Mexico, has been bequeathed to the College of St. Joseph on the Rio Grande, Albuquerque. The collection, the largest and most valuable ever received by the College library, consists of more than 2,000 books in both Spanish and English and includes works of Spanish literature, histories of Spain and Latin America, biographies and periodicals. The rarest items in the gift are a nearly complete set of the P.M.L.A. magazine from 1931 to 1954, and the issues of Hispania from 1929 to 1940.

Pro Deo Association of Catholic Colleges received a gift of $1,000 from His Eminence, Francis Cardinal Spellman for the further development of the cooperative activities of the Association. At the initiative of Right Rev. Msgr. John J. Voight, Secretary of Education of the Archdiocese of New York, 10 colleges engaged in the Sister Formation program in the Archdiocese are completing five years of coordinated efforts to share in the solution of common problems, especially in providing for adequate library needs. The present members of the Association include: the Dominican Sisters of Blauvelt, Maryknoll, Newburgh and Sparkill; the Franciscan Sisters of Peekskill; the Mercy Sisters of Tarrytown; Presentation Sisters of Newburgh; Resurrection Sisters of Port Chester; Sisters of the Good Shepherd of Peekskill and Sisters of the Catholic Apostolate of Harriman.

- Several audio-visual idea booklets can be obtained at no cost from Educational Information Division, Victor Animatograph Corporation, Plainville, Connecticut. These booklets include: "Four Steps in Skillful Use of Film," "Sources of Film and A-V Information," "Helping Teachers Use Films Effectively" and "How to Train Projectionists."

NEW 1959 COLLIER'S ENCYCLOPEDIA

The new 1959 Collier's Encyclopedia offers a New Dimension in planned, progressive expansion based on the reference needs and interests of modern readers.

This new edition combines 427 completely new authoritative articles with over 900 new illustrations to provide the most timely information you can possibly get in an encyclopedia.

A total of 1,719 articles have been added or revised. They reveal Alaska as the 49th State; Pope John XXIII as head of the Catholic Church, results of the I.G.Y. and many more such timely subjects. Willy Ley contributes a fascinating article on Space Travel, Space Satellites, Guided Missiles, Rockets have been completely up-dated and expanded again. A new, brilliantly executed sequence of full-color acetate transparencies vividly portray the internal structures of the human body. No wonder Collier's Encyclopedia is recommended by every Educational and Library Agency that evaluates encyclopedias.

Sisters are urged to stay at the Conrad Hilton Hotel if at all possible, as the schools and convents are not conveniently located in relation to the hotel. The registration fee for the High School Libraries Section pre-conference session will be $1.00. This will include both the morning and the afternoon sessions.

The Regina Medal Luncheon will cost $5.00.

A CONFERENCE HIGHLIGHT

A librarian's prime function is to serve. Subject heading lists, cataloguing schemes, circulation records and so for, all help us to be of more help to our readers. That is why the commercial exhibits are so popular a part of any convention. We can see the latest reference books, the newest titles, the most time-saving gadgets, the handsomest furniture, the most efficient book jobber, the neatest binder, the most reasonable magazine agent, and all under one roof. We can compare prices, quality, and service, and actually handle the wares. See all the exhibits, so that you will get the most out of the Chicago Conference.

The Most Rev. Raymond C. Hillinger, D.D.
Auxiliary Bishop of Chicago.

Conference Masses

Two special Masses will be the pivotal points around which the 35th Annual Conference will revolve. On Tuesday, March 31, delegates will gather at St. Mary Church to participate in a Solemn Pontifical Mass to be celebrated by the Most Rev. Raymond C. Hillinger, D.D., Auxiliary Bishop of Chicago. His Excellency will also deliver the sermon at the Mass. The assistant priest at the Mass will be Rt. Rev. Harry C. Koenig, Administrator of St. Joseph Church, Libertyville, Illinois, and a speaker at the morning meeting of the College and University Libraries Section. The Webster High School Choir of Chicago, directed by Rev. Frederick J. Ciesla, C.R., will sing the Mass. It is hoped that the Most Rev. Albert G. Meyer, Archbishop of Chicago, will join in the celebration of this Mass. His Excellency is the Honorary Chairman of this 35th Annual Conference.

The Rev. George G. Jendrach, C.R., librarian at Weber High School and Past Chairman of the Secondary Section of the Illinois CLA Unit, will celebrate a Mass for deceased members of the Association. All members participating in the Conference are requested to attend this Mass and pray for these souls on Thursday, April 2 at noon.

Regina Medal Luncheon

One of the brightest moments of the Conference will take place on Monday, March 30. On that day the Association will award the first Regina Medal to Miss Eleanor Farjeon for her "lifetime dedication to the highest standards of literature for children."

Miss Farjeon's selection by the Children's Literature Committee of the Catholic Library Association, under the chairmanship of Sister M. Camillus, R.S.M., ended almost three years of preparation leading up to this very first Regina Medal award.

The Medal will be presented at a special Regina Medal Luncheon and, in the enforced absence of Miss Farjeon, will be accepted for her by Edward Ardizzone, English author and illustrator. Mr. Ardizzone is traveling from England specifically to attend the Regina Medal Luncheon.

Sister Camillus will preside at the Luncheon and Mrs. Ruth Hill Viguers, editor of The Horn Book Magazine, will pay tribute to Miss Farjeon in an introductory talk. The Luncheon will be climaxed by the reading of Miss Farjeon's acceptance paper by Edward Ardizzone after the presentation of the medal.

Mrs.
Ruth
Hill
Viguers

Highlights

Miss Farjeon was born in London in 1881. Her first book was written in 1915, Nursery Rhymes of London Town, and was soon followed by Martin Pippin in the Apple Orchard, one of her best known titles. Since then she has published some 80 works, over half of them written for children. She has written stories and poems, novels and plays. The Silver Curlew, a play written in collaboration with her brother Bertie, was later turned into children's stories and published in book form. Drawing on personal experience, Miss Farjeon reminisced on her childhood in A Nursery in the Nineties.

One of the highpoints in her career was reached in 1956 when she received two awards for her wonderful book The Little Bookroom. The Carnegie Medal was awarded to her by the English Literary Association for an outstanding book of the year and the Hans Christian Andersen Prize was presented by the International Board of Books for Young People.

Rev. John F.
McConnell, M.M.

Jerome G. Kerwin,
Ph.D.

Opening General Session and Conference Luncheon

Sister M. Eone, O.S.F., president of the CLA, will preside at both the Opening General Session and the Conference Luncheon. Principle speakers at these sessions are the Rev. John F. McConnell, M.M., who will talk on "The Bible and the Intellectual Life" at the Opening General Session, and Jerome G. Kerwin, Ph.D., whose topic at the Conference Luncheon is "The Importance of the Catholic Intellectual."

The Opening General Session on March 31 at 2:30 p.m. and the Luncheon, April 1 at 12:00 noon, are two very important events on the Conference schedule. They give delegates a chance to not only hear two fine guest speakers, but to also hear messages from the president, Sister Eone, and vice-president, Brother Arthur L. Goerdt, S.M.

Brother Jerome Fabian, F.S.C., chairman of the local arrangements committee, will present a welcoming address at the Opening General Session, followed by Brother Goerdt, who will speak on "The Mission of the Catholic Library Association." Brother Goerdt is the president-elect of the Association. (He will take office at the General Business Session on April 2, at 2 p.m.)

The main speakers at the meetings are men who are well qualified in their subject matter. Father McConnell is a noted scripture scholar teaching at Maryknoll Seminary in Glen Ellyn, Illinois, and Dr. Kerwin is a professor of Political Science at the University of Chicago. Their efforts, plus those of the other participants promise to make this 35th Annual Conference one of the most successful in CLA history.

CORRECT YOUR DIRECTORY

SISTER MARY ANINA RYAN, Sister of Mercy, Diocese of Buffalo, died on December 10, 1958. Sister was a graduate of the Brockport (New York) Normal, Canisius College, Buffalo, and received her degree in Library Science from Marywood College, Scranton, Penna.

An enriched reading background and an appreciation of books fitted her for her work as a Librarian. She served as the first librarian of Bishop Quigley Diocesan High School, Buffalo and since 1955 has been Librarian of Mount Mercy Academy, Buffalo.

REV. GILBERT PETERSON, S.J., was appointed Librarian of Creighton Preparatory School in Omaha, Nebraska. Father Peterson was formerly Reference Librarian of Catholic University of America Library.

MARY HUNT, University Librarian of Creighton University, Omaha, Nebraska, was the recipient of a special 30-year award. The Very Rev. Carl M. Reinert, S.J., President of the University, made the presentation at a special employees Christmas party. Gertrude Floersch and Margaret Ryan received 25-year awards.

EVERETT O. FONTAINE, director of publications for P. F. Collier and Son, has retired after seven years with the publishing firm.

His retirement has brought about realignments of responsibilities in the editorial division with W. T. Couch continuing as editor in chief of Collier's Encyclopedia.

Harry R. Snowden, Jr., heads up a newly-established book development division. A former editor of Special Libraries, Mr. Snowden served as Mr. Fontaine's assistant at Collier's until 1953 when he went to Bell Laboratories as production editor.

Mr. Fontaine spent 27 years with the American Library Association before he joined the Collier firm. During his last 16 years at ALA he was chief of its publications department. He will continue as a consultant with Collier's.

RAYNARD C. SWANK, 46-year-old Director of Libraries at Stanford University (Stanford, California), who is widely recognized as one of the outstanding leaders in librarianship, has accepted appointment as Director of the American Library Association's International Relations Office.

Announcement of the appointment was made at a meeting of the Council of the ALA in Chicago on January 28. Mr. Swank, who will be on leave from Stanford, will join the Headquarters staff in Chicago on July 1, 1959, assuming the Directorship of the International Relations Office in the Fall of 1959. He will succeed JACK DALTON, Director of the Office since 1956, who becomes Dean of Columbia University's School of Library Service in the Fall.

MRS. FRANCES NEEL CHENEY became the first recipient of the new Beta Phi Mu Good Teaching Award at the annual meeting of the Association of American Library Schools held January 26 in Chicago.

An associate professor of library science in the George Peabody College Library School, Mrs. Cheney was presented the award in recognition of her excellence as a teacher of librarianship.

This annual award was established by Beta Phi Mu, the international library science honor society, and carries a citation, honorarium, and honorary membership in the society. Mrs. Cheney's citation read in part: "The expressions of her former students and her colleagues testify to her skill in teaching, her understanding of each student as an individual, with deep insight into his capabilities, and to her ability to bring out the best in each student, helping him to develop his potential to the fullest. Her distinction as a teacher is complemented by her published contributions to bibliographical research, her service at Keio University in Tokyo and her professional activities."

Since 1946, Mrs. Cheney has been on the Peabody Library School faculty and during the past two years has been acting director while William FitzGerald has been on leave. Prior to her teaching career, she held positions at Vanderbilt University Library, Nashville Joint University Libraries, and the Library of Congress. She was President of the Association of American Library Schools in 1956-57 and of the Tennessee Library Association, 1947-48, and is currently on the Executive Board of the American Library Association.

Catholic Organizations Spearhead Campaign for National Library Week

BY JOHN S. ROBLING

Director
National Library Week

Looking back on the first celebration of National Library Week, 1958, it was significant to observe that in state after state the response of church and church-related groups was immediate and spontaneous. Time had not permitted special emphasis in this area, yet there was tangible evidence of enthusiasm and participation from everywhere. With an earlier start for NLW, April 12-18, 1959, work began right after Labor Day to enlist the official support of inter-faith organizations. The Religious Publishers Group, quick to recognize the positive values to be derived from a "grass-roots" read-more campaign, decided as a body to suspend their regular Lenten Lists in favor of supporting NLW. Next came the official endorsement of the Catholic Library Association which set the wheels in motion for a religious program that promises to develop into an overwhelming nationwide effort by Catholic library, church and lay groups on national, state and local levels.

To attempt a rundown of the complete program planned would be virtually impossible. A few highlights, however, will serve to indicate the wide scope of Catholic participation. The National Catholic Welfare Conference, with its News Service, has arranged for distribution of an article by Father Harold C. Gardiner which will appear simultaneously in America. The NCWC Family Life Bureau is incorporating NLW aims into its existing program reaching 16,000 parishes. NCWC Director of Education, Monsignor Frederick Hochwalt, is contacting all school superintendents throughout the country urging participation in local activities. The National Council of Catholic Women and the National Council of Catholic Men have pledged full cooperation. Newman Clubs will carry the NLW message to college campuses. The Confraternity of Christian Doctrine, headquarters in Washington, plans to make NLW a part of the national "Released Time Program."

In the mass communications field there are a number of exciting developments to match organizational support. Columbia Magazine, Our Sunday Visitor, The Sign, Catholic World, to name a few, will carry articles featuring NLW. Twenty general consumer magazines—including Reader's Digest, Look, Saturday Review, Saturday Evening Post and This Week—are already firmly committed to feature the NLW read-more message in April.

The potential of radio and television in stressing the values of religious reading and in making religious books the core of home libraries has not been overlooked. Father Keller has agreed to devote a National Christophers TV program to NLW aims. "Christians in Action" will feature religious reading and libraries on Sunday, April 12, which has been designated Religious Library Sunday. Once again, local programs will be a powerful instrument in communicating the library story to the total community. To reinforce this, TV spots, telops and radio spots will be available to local committees in February.

To date, 6,000 copies of the 1959 Organization Handbook, which this year is more specific in suggesting local activities, have been distribut-

Selected EASTER SERMONS OF ST. AUGUSTINE

by Philip T. Weller, S.T.D.

The hour and the essential elements of the ancient celebration of the Easter liturgy were restored by Pope Pius XII. Yet, for many of the faithful the significance of the restored paschal rites remains veiled in mystery.

In his decree of restoration the Holy Father recalled that Augustine called the Easter vigil "the mother of all sacred vigils." Father Weller in his Introduction explains the preeminent dignity of this vigil. The paschal rites were the liturgy of the Redemption in its broadest connotation. The ancient Easter nightwatch was the liturgical celebration not only of Christ's resurrection, but also and primarily of man's deliverance from the slavery of sin.

Although Easter had come to be regarded in the popular mind almost exclusively as the feast of our Lord's resurrection, even before the time of Augustine, yet it is clear from the Saint's sermons that the Church in Africa of the early fifth century still regarded the Christian Pasch as the sacramental re-enactment of the whole work of Redemption, rather than a mere historical feast commemorating the one phase of Christ's victory over death.

Father Weller has made a tremendous contribution to the fuller understanding of the reasons behind the restoration of the ancient Easter liturgy. The sermons selected are gems of Augustinian literature. ($4.95)

ed. Based on the ideas and advice of librarians and citizens, it covers, we feel, every aspect of committee program in action.

A striking new, six-color poster, designed by J. Walter Thompson, will spearhead our display materials this year. The slogan "Wake Up and Read!" is brought to life by a man's face, half of which is "awake," and his open eye is shown against a background of type which repeats the objective: "For a better-read, better-informed America." (See photo). Other display materials, listed in a box with this article, may be ordered in units or in bulk.

It is apparent to us that religious groups of all faiths are eager to join in the NLW read-more campaign for a better-read, better-informed America. Even more this year there is an increased awareness of the philosophy of the program, which in 1959 has expanded to embrace the values of religious reading and religious libraries.

PROMOTION AIDS

The following promotion materials will be available for sale from National Library Week headquarters, 24 West 40th Street, New York 18. Each item will be priced individually so that you can order whatever kinds of materials you want in any quantity, with $4 minimum order. Free brochure with order blank and price of each item will be sent to you on request from NLW headquarters if you have not already received one.

Poster. Size 17 inches by 22 inches—six colors. A dramatic impact of color combination in violet, yellow, blue, red, brown and black, highlighted by an abstract face, asleep on one half, wide awake on the other; filled in with copy saying: "For a better-read, better-informed America." Also carries the WAKE UP AND READ! slogan and NLW dates. Don't forget—a poster can be used in any location.

Counter Card. An eight inch by ten inch reproduction of the poster in six colors, produced on heavy stock and mounted on an easel back. Useful for both windows and interiors. Sits upright on any flat surface.

Streamers. Two sizes. NLW 3C is a 36 inches by nine and one-half inches, four color streamer in poster colors and utilizing poster symbol. NLW 3D is 22½ inches by six inches in four colors and imprinted with NLW slogans and dates. Can be attached to any flat surface visible to the eye.

Bookmark. Delightful reproduction of the poster face at top of bookmark. Face peers over top of book when inserted. Three poster colors and NLW slogan imprint. Size two inches by seven inches.

Table tent. Three inches by five inches folded. One side imprinted in poster colors and face with WAKE UP AND READ! slogan. Other side imprinted with eagle emblem and NLW dates. Enameled paper stock. For use on public dining tables or other flat surfaces where a small upright card is appropriate.

Table mat: 12 inches by 18 inches. Strong white stock, imprinted with soft grey figure design around outside border. Design includes small figures of men, women and children in family scenes. For use under plates in public and private dining rooms.

Advertising mat and seal. A single three-column sheet for advertising purposes. Includes eagle emblem, poster emblem, 20 square ad utilizing poster in the art work, advertising slogans and other small symbols. Can be used by local publications for reproduction.

Franciscan Studies and Reports

BY REV. PASCAL J. SCHALLER, O.F.M. Cap.

Saint Mary Monastery

Herman (Butler County), Pennsylvania

The purpose of this article is to describe the development of the reports of the Franciscan Educational Conference and the Franciscan Studies.<sup>1</sup> Conclusions and decisions for handling are left to the individual librarian as he sees fit to meet his own needs.

The FEC was a project begun in 1919 to bring about "a greater unity of action and sympathetic cooperation among Franciscan educators of this country."<sup>2</sup> At first it was exclusively for Franciscans. Within a few short years, the Conference opened its meetings to other families of the Franciscan Order. From the beginning, the FEC published a report of sessions for the respective year of the meeting covered.

Apart from the annual report, provision was made for an outlet for the scholarly research of the Friars. In 1924 the Conference began publishing monographs at irregular intervals, appearing as the series, Franciscan Studies. FS became a quarterly in 1941. At this time, because of the war, the reports of the FEC were printed as the fourth number of FS. This arrangement lasted for four years.

There was no FEC held in the year 1945. The fourth number of FS was then taken up with other material. When the report of the 1946 Conference was published, it once more appeared as a separate volume. It continued annually as such up to the present time. FS, on the other hand, likewise remained a quarterly publication but emanated as a publication of the Franciscan Institute at St. Bonaventure, New York.

The following more detailed breakdown is offered from a librarian's point of view.

FEC Reports—Title and Occurrence

The reports of the annual meetings, from the beginning in 1919 until 1935 inclusively, bear the title: Report of the Annual Meeting. A running (quasi-series) title appears at the top of the page as: The Franciscan Educational Conference, which is frequently mistaken for the real title. From 1936 through 1940, though the running title is retained, a new title, corresponding to the subject of the particular conference for the year, is used. This subject title appears in larger type, the idea of a report being somewhat subdued and included beneath the subject title. This practice (except for the running title) continues even in the December issues of the FS, which carry the reports from 1941-1944. Upon appearing once again as a separate volume in 1946 and onward, the reports bear only a subject title, while notice of a report is relegated to italics. The reports are annual except for 1945, when no conference was held. The FEC has consistently been the publisher of these reports.

Volume Numbering and Pagination

The volume number coincides with the number of the respective annual conference. This number is duplicated on the title page, to appear also as an issue number. Such is the case until the inclusion of the reports as the fourth issue of FS. In 1946 the numbering of the volumes begins again with XXVII, since this is the report of the twenty-seventh conference. From this time on no further listing of an issue number appears.

Each report has its own pagination with the exception, of course, of those reports which were part of FS. In such cases, the pages of the reports were numbered consecutively with those of the proper volume of FS of which they were part.

Franciscan Studies—Vital Facts

FS is the series-title of the monographs published from 1924 until 1940 inclusively by the FEC. The individual volumes are entitled according to their content and appear at irregular intervals. From 1941 the FS emerges as a quarterly (issued March, June, September and December).

The FEC was the real publisher of FS until 1947.<sup>3</sup> The apparent publishers listed on the title pages are only dealers or printers. From 1947 to the present, the Franciscan Institute is the publisher of the FS quarterly.

During its appearance as a monograph series, FS had its volumes numbered consecutively upon publication. Usually the month of issue is given but not so as to imply anything of a regular periodical nature. This series ended with the monograph of 1940, bearing the number XXI. Emerging as a quarterly, FS began its numbering where the monographs left off. Hence the first issue of 1941 is "Volume 22, number 1." On the title page of the quarterly (beginning with 1941 and enduring through 1944), we find a statement in parentheses about the numbering of a new series. The old series was abandoned and deleted entirely at the beginning of 1948, which volume is listed as volume 6.

Each of the FS monographs has its own pagination. Occasionally these monographs are reprints from some other source; the plates of the originals were used and irregular pagination is the result in such volumes.

As a final note, the present writer finds it convenient, if not altogether technically correct, to treat FS (both monographs and quarterly), and also FEC reports, separately and as periodicals. Even the fact that the reports for 1941-1944 are bound as the fourth issues of FS presents no serious difficulty, once the librarian is aware of the situation.

<sup>1</sup> In the remainder of this article the symbol FEC will stand for Franciscan Educational Conference; and FS, for Franciscan Studies.

BY RICHARD J. HURLEY

Supervisor of School Libraries
Fairfax County, Fairfax, Virginia

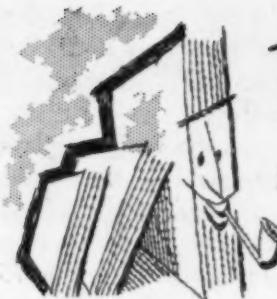

Of the making of anthologies there is no end. We no more than complete one gathering of the flowers of literature, than another has appeared in the library garden. The latest bloom seems to us particularly fragrant, a ten-volume set Through Golden Windows (Hale, 1958, $34.50 or $3.45 per volume). Each volume is approximately 330 pages, in large type, attractively illustrated and representative of a phase of children's literature. The volumes, interestingly, are paired to provide for pre-school and primary, K-4 grades, and the intermediate grades, five to eight. The five large areas of interest are fun and humor, adventure, children everywhere, story of America, and science. The selections in each volume are loosely tied together into related units to permit the child to pursue an interest such as pets. Typical selections are Grimm, Andersen, Aesop and Peter Rabbit for Mostly Magic and Fun and Fantasy; Jungle Book and Young Mac of Fort Vancouver for Wonderful Things Happen and Adventures Here and There; Wind in the Willows and Heidi for Good Times Together and Children Everywhere; Away Goes Sally and No Other White Man for Stories of Early America and American Backgrounds; and Bambi and Bright Design for Wide Wonderful World and Man and His World. In each volume is an author-title and subject Indexes and reference to the original works excerpted. The traditional classics are represented—King Arthur, Robin Hood, Arabian Nights and others, plus the modern landmarks as Treasure Island, Tom Sawyer and Alice in Wonderland. The word literature has been interpreted broadly to include travel, biography, history and science. The outstanding authors of juveniles are included. Among them are several recognizable Catholics as Noyes, Van Stockum, Carr, Bennett, Kieran, Colum, McGinley, Miska Petersham, Shannon, Angelo and Enright. Also we feel that all selections were catholic if not Catholic. The editorial committee justifies our confidence in the contents of this set—Nora Beust, Phyllis Fenner, Bernice Leary, Mary Katharine Reely and Dora V. Smith. They state their aims as meeting children's needs and to help parents provide a basic home library. The compilers had the good sense to retain the original illustrators of our treasured books.

The librarian might well ask—Why another anthology? The editors reply: "the books are needed". Granted this, we question if the reading of excerpts will lead children to the reading of the full work. Here we cannot use the digest magazines for comparison nor contrast them with abridgments and adaptations. The dramatic incidents used from the many books—two hundred at least—are expertly selected. We see the usefulness of this set in terms of reading aloud and story-telling material, a guide to the choicest of children's literature, an introduction to the best of juvenile book illustrating and above all the presentation of our really extensive literature in science. The two science volumes justify the purchase of the set. We are glad to give Through Golden Windows our blessings.

"Wake Up and Read!" is the slogan for National Library Week sponsored by a group of organizations including CLA for April 12-18. Promotion aids include poster, streamers, mats, bookmarks and table tent. There is a manual for local chairmen giving many ideas for activities with a section for schools. Most of the twenty suggestions in this area are practical and common-sensed. The Wilson Library Bulletin for January, 1959 had an article by Virginia H. Mathews "Some Suggestions for National Library Week". You may still be recovering from CBW and Lent but let us urge you to make one more effort and show that Catholics are alert to national movements. Address: 24 West 40th Street, New York 18, New York, and send $1.00 for the Teachers Kit.

We conclude this installment with apologies to Father Gardiner for a misprint in my comments on his Catholic Viewpoint on Censorship.

Book Talk FOR PROFESSIONAL PEOPLE

Certification of Librarians

The United States Office of Education Bulletin 1958, No. 12 (Certification of School Librarians) is a compilation of State requirements for school librarians, as of 1958, assembled by Mary Helen Mahar, specialist for school and children's libraries in the Library Services Branch of the Department. Interpretation of State policies in certification is followed by individual requirements for school librarians by States and territories.

College Costs

The Life Insurance Agency Management Association (Hartford 5, Connecticut) conducted a survey in the spring of 1958 which resulted in a helpful booklet entitled 1958-1959 College Costs, Basic Undergraduate Expenses. Arranged alphabetically by name of institution the booklet gives, for each college location, type, enrollment, tuition, fees and any variation for out-of-state students.

A more extended chart of college facts is that published by the National Beta Club (Spartanburg, South Carolina). Its 1958-1959 College Facts Chart gives information for 1,793 institutions based on data received from the offices of the presidents of the colleges and universities listed. The bulletin was prepared by the Club as part of its educational-service program. Copies were sent to every high school in the United States but are also available to others at 50 cents a copy.

Education of Women

The Commission on the Education of Women of the American Council on Education is issuing a bulletin entitled The Education of Women. Besides notes on activities and publications just off the press, the bulletin lists research projects completed or in process which seem to have significant implications for Women's education today.

Donatus to Comenius

A Catalogue worth cataloging is Menno Hertzberger's From Donatus till Comenius; Schoolbooks of the Fifteenth and Sixteenth Centuries (Catalogue 217, Keizersgracht 610, Amsterdam). The format is attractive and the notes and illustrations helpful.

Asia and Africa

The October, 1958 issue of the Comparative Education Review, official organ of the Comparative Education Society, contains three articles devoted to education in the countries of Asia and Africa. Of particular interest to librarians is Professor George Bereday's Editorial which includes a list of references dealing with the nature of intercultural contacts.

Paperbacks

The Greek Philosopher, by Rex Warner (a Mentor Original, 50 cents) sketches Greek philosophy from its beginnings in Ionia to its decline under the Roman Empire. The Sermons of John Donne, have been edited, selected and introduced by Theodore A. Gill, managing editor of The Christian Century (Meridian Living Age Original, $1.35). Religion in America, edited by John Cogley (Meridian Original, $1.45) includes essays by Father John Courtney Murray, Will Herberg, Walter J. Ong, and Father Gustave Weigel.

Literature classes will welcome Religious Drama II, (Meridian Living Age Original), a collection of twenty complete medieval English mystery plays, representative of a complete mystery cycle, and the morality play Everyman. The Introduction by Dr. E. Martin Brownie, Director of the York Festival and producer of the plays of T. S. Eliot, traces the history and development of the plays.

Western Civilization Since 1500 (College Outline Series, $1.95) by Walther Kirchner is keyed to standard textbooks and includes helpful charts, a chronology, and a series of final examinations. Pius XII, however, is not included in the Index and the only name listed for the nineteenth and twentieth century under Religion in the chart of "Memorable Thinkers and Artists" is that of Pius IX.

Stories from Shakespeare, the complete plays of William Shakespeare retold by Marchette Chute, was originally published by the World Publishing Company but is now available in a Mentor Book (New American Library) at 75 cents.

Paperbounds Unbound

The New York Herald Tribune Book Review for January 18, 1959, included a "Paperback Section" of thirty-six pages which contains some of the most stimulating ideas we have found in print. Individual articles are by authorities in the field and very well done.

Catholic Booklist

The Catholic Booklist for 1959 (Rosary College, $1.00) has been edited for the Catholic Library Association this year by Sister Mary Reynoldine, O.P. of the Rosary College Department of Library Science. This helpful annotated and classified guide has been of particular value because of its continuity, being in effect a measure of Catholic interests and reading tastes for well over a decade. This issue adds to the list of illustrious contributors the name of the Reverend William C. Bier, S.J., Executive Secretary of the American Catholic Psychological Association and chairman of the Committee on Psychology and Religion of the American Psychological Association, the only Catholic ever to hold this latter post. The list of books includes publications of more than 90 publishers of which approximately 20 are university presses. Sheed, Bruce, and Farrar lead the list with the greatest number of publications represented but Kenedy, Newman, Macmillan, and Doubleday are not far behind.

Prose as Well as Poetry

The Macmillan Company has announced early spring publication of The Bride: Essays on the Church, by Father Daniel Berrigan, S.J., winner of the national poetry award for his volume of verse, Time without Number. Father Berrigan is currently a professor at LeMoyne College, Syracuse, New York.

The Cranbrook Tower Press (Bach House, 10-12 Baches St., London, N.1) has just issued an International Who's Who in Poetry (2v., $6.40), a biographical dictionary of "living poetry" compiled by Geoffrey Handley-Taylor. Besides articles on contemporary poets, there are sections on awards and competitions, and poetry organizations.

Bibliography

All who judged the World Bibliography of Bibliographies, by Besterman (originally $140.00 for the 4 volumes) beyond their budgets will welcome the announcement of the Scarecrow Press (257 Fourth Avenue, New York 10) that this third and final edition may now be obtained at the price of $49.50. The Scarecrow Press has just purchased the rights and the entire stock of this last edition and has set the price within the reach of every library.

The homage volume, in spite of partial indexing, has always been an elusive source of valuable material. The Harvard University Press is doing its part to make it more available. Modern Iberian Language and Literature, by Herbert H. Golden and Seymour O. Simches ($4.00), brings together a listing of more than 2,000 widely-scattered studies on Catalan, Portuguese, Spanish and Latin-American languages and literatures contained in homage volumes appearing since 1500. This is the second in a series of bibliographies of homage studies. Modern French Literature and Language preceded it and Modern Italian Language and Literature will follow it.

A homage volume of a different sort is Shaping the Christian Message, edited by Gerald S. Sloyan (Macmillan, $5.50). These essays in religious education, dedicated to the late Right Reverend William H. Russell, are a tribute of affection from two groups: The Kerby Foundation, "Catholic laymen dedicated to promoting the concept of the spiritual basis of American democracy," and the teachers of religion and students devoted to Monsignor Russell. The aim of the book was to produce a work which would reflect certain ideals in the service of which Monsignor Russell spent himself.

WARRIOR OF GOD

The Great Religious Orders and
Their Founders

By WALTER NIGG

This richly informative, fascinatingly readable book tells the stories of the men and women (all subsequently sainted) who founded the great monastic and other religious orders of Christianity. It relates what is known of each founder's life and then examines the order's ruling ideas, characteristics, conflicts, tragedies, and services. The position of the order today is always described.

In these pages you will meet the Hermits of the Desert, Cenobites, monks of Eastern Christianity, Augustinians, Benedictines, Carthusians, Cistercians, Trappists, Franciscans, Dominicans, Carmelites, and Jesuits. And here, too, among others are St. Anthony, St. Basil, St. Augustine, St. Bernard, St. Francis, St. Dominic, St. Teresa of Avila, and St. Ignatius Loyola. Translated from the German by Mary Ilford.

Medieval Canon Law

Preparations are well under way for publishing the Proceedings of the International Congress of Medieval Canon Law held at Louvain from July 22 to July 26, 1958. It is to be hoped that the editor will be able to include the paper, scheduled but not read, by Professor Adam Vetulani of the University of Cracow, Poland. At the last minute this eminent canonist was refused permission to travel abroad.

Education

The second volume of the World Survey of Education (Unesco, $28.00) is now available from the International Publications, Inc. (801 3rd Avenue, New York 22). The first volume of this helpful work was published in 1955 and dealt with all types and levels of education within each national system. The present survey deals more particularly with the primary school and gives a detailed treatment of every aspect of it. The diagrams, charts, and bibliographies are particularly helpful for admission officers.

The 1958 revised edition of Carter Alexander's How to Locate Educational Information and Data has been announced by the Bureau of Publications, Teachers College, Columbia University ($5.95). This new edition, as the old, is good for anyone who would make the best use of the library and, therefore, is not limited to education students.

The second edition of the Dictionary of Education has been prepared by Carter V. Good with the assistance of Winifred R. Merkel under the auspices of Phi Delta Kappa (McGraw-Hill, $9.75). In revising the Dictionary, a tentative master list of new terms was prepared based on an analysis of the index of the Encyclopedia of Educational Research (1950), the index of the Review of Educational Research from 1945 on, and the alphabetical list of subject headings in the Education Index from 1950 to 1953.

From the Periodicals

The January, 1959, issue of the Classical World has an article, long overdue, on "Some Recent Historical Fiction" which reports on recent developments in the field of historical fiction on classical themes.

In addition to its nine regular book numbers for 1959, the Commonweal has announced an added special number, a thirty-fifth anniversary issue to appear on October 30. This issue will cover public affairs, literature, and the arts for the period 1924 to 1959.

The March 21 issue of the Saturday Review will include its annual reference book roundup as well as a section on photography as an art.

The Winter, 1958, issue of Notre Dame includes a two-page article on the Review of Politics which this year is celebrating its twentieth anniversary. To commemorate the celebration the editors have doubled the size of the October, 1958, and the January, 1959, issues of the Review, and will publish a selection of the better articles of the twenty years in a Review of Politics Reader.

Free and Inexpensive

A pamphlet on How to Use "A Parent's Guide to Children's Reading" has been prepared by the American Textbook Publishers Institute and the American Book Publishers Council in cooperation with the National Book Committee (24 West 40th Street, New York 18) to accompany the book of that title by Nancy Larrick.

Theodore Roosevelt, Naturalist and Outdoorsman, an account of T.R.'s early life, is available from Interlaken Mills (Fiskeville, R.I.) as its New Year's brochure. Copies may be obtained by a request on business letter-head.

An Interim Bibliography on the International Geophysical Year is available from the National Academy of Science (Publications Office, Washington 23, D.C.) at $1.00 a copy. This is the first of a series to be prepared by the Library of Congress, the National Academy of Sciences, and the National Science Foundation. The references included range from January, 1951 to August, 1958.

CLA News and Views

As Months Speed Along, CLA Units Keep Pace with Meetings, Contests, Workshops

BY SISTER EDWARD, S.C.L.

Saint Mary College
Xavier, Kansas

March Winds Blow, and the Hours Go!
And CLA keeps marching merrily along, exchanging ideas at meetings, reading, thinking, having workshops . . . and planning annual conferences. Remember, it's Chicago this year! Conrad Hilton, March 31-April 3.

Newest in the news is this bit about CBW and elementary school libraries workshop.

Teachers trekked to school on Saturday, March 7, for the MICHIGAN Unit Elementary School Libraries Workshop, at St. Benedict's School, Highland Park. Miss Miriam Wessel of the Detroit Public Library and CLW Children's Book Page editor, was chairman of the workshop.

At the February meeting of the GREATER SAINT Louis Unit, Mother M. Vincentia, O.S.U., Eugene Coyle High School, Unit CBW chairman, presented books to twelve winners of the high school essay contest. Topics were: "What Reading Can Do for Me," "A Most Unforgettable Book Character," "Why I Prefer Historical Novels" (Biography, etc.), and "Share Truth . . . Spread Faith."

Sister M. John Bosco, C.P.P.S., of Holy Family School in St. Louis, presented awards to grade-school winners.

Jeannette Pepin was local chairman for the successful annual Book Week Fair of the NEW ENGLAND Unit, St. Valentine's Day, at the New England Mutual Hall, Boston.

Rich Exchange of Ideas . . .

Communications, reading, TV, public relations, budgeting, reading were among the subjects considered during recent CLA Unit meetings.

"Growing Through Books" was the theme of the 24th annual meeting of the GREATER ST. LOUIS Unit, February 21, at St. Joseph's Academy, Kirkwood. Sister M. Camillus, R.S.M., of Mt. Mercy College, Pittsburgh, inspired her listeners with ideas on "Growth Through Lifetime Reading."

At this meeting Mr. James V. Jones of St. Louis University succeeded Brother Richard Middleton, S.M., as Chairman of the Unit. Officers are already looking ahead to 1961 when the GREATER ST. LOUIS Unit will welcome all CLA to the national conference at the Jefferson-Sheraton.

Mr. Clarence R. Graham, Director of the Louisville Free Public Library, spoke on "The Library and the Community," and Mr. H. A. Tollefson of the Louisville Public Library discussed "The Librarian's Responsibility as a Mass Communicator" at the November 2 meeting of the MID-SOUTH CONFERENCE at Nazareth College, Louisville. Presenting the key talk was Father Simeon Daly, O.S.B., St. Meinard Archabbey, Indiana, who spoke on "Communications: a Divine and Human Necessity."

The fifteen librarians of liberal arts colleges comprising CLAN—the California Administrators of the North—bandied "The Budget" when they met at the College of Holy Names, Oakland.

"The Undergraduate Program of Library Education" was the subject discussed by Sister M. Edmund, C.S.J., of the College of St.

Catherine, St. Paul, at the annual meeting of the Minnesota Association of Hospitals and Medical Librarians in St. Paul, October 11. (MINNESOTA-DAKOTA Unit).

"Cat" Re-examined . . .

Problems of cataloguing will be the matter for consideration in a series of meetings of the College, University, and Seminary Libraries Section of the WASHINGTON, D.C.-MARYLAND Unit. When sixty members of the section met at Georgetown University, November 22, they heard a panel on the "Requirements and Economics of Cataloguing" from the viewpoint of a cataloguer, a library administrator, and a "lay" user of the library. Mr. Samuel Waters, Head of Catalogue Department at Georgetown; Father William Danish, S.J., Librarian at Loyola College in Baltimore; and Father Paul Fursey, Head of the Department of Sociology at Catholic University, participated.

When Father Oliver L. Kapsner, O.S.B., of the WESTERN PENNSYLVANIA Unit, and Father Colman J. Farrell, O.S.B., of the MIDWEST Unit, met last July at the Institute on Cataloguing Code Revision at Stanford University, they must have had many common interests. Librarians from foreign countries and all parts of the United States met to resolve criticisms and misunderstandings subsequent upon former revisions. The Institute in Los Angeles was sponsored by Stanford University and ALA. The two Benedictines were among those who also attended ALA in San Francisco.

Intellectual Life . . .

Friends of the Library of the University of Detroit Libraries presented last month John Cogley, former Executive Editor of Commonweal and currently on the executive staff of the Fund for the Republic, and have invited John Wain, British novelist, poet, and "angry young man," for the twenty-first of this month. (MICHIGAN Unit.)

During the week his new book, For the Life of Me, was released, Robert Briscoe, former Lord Mayor of Dublin, spoke at Varsi Library, University of Santa Clara. After being welcomed by Mr. David Noonan, past president of the Ancient Order of Hibernians, by whom the Irish Library was established, Mr. Briscoe voiced the common hope that the library would realize a large collection of documents and scholarly material on Irish history and culture. (NORTHERN CALIFORNIA Unit.)

Ethelmary Oakland, librarian at Passaic Senior High School, Passaic, New Jersey, and Secretary-Treasurer of the GREATER NEW YORK Unit, reports that Father Paul J. Fullam, C.P., of St. Michael's Church, Union City, New Jersey, spoke on "Libraries and the Intellectual Life" at the fall meeting of the Unit at Elizabeth Seton School, Yonkers.

Emphasizing the teaching role of the library, the new Mullen Library at Catholic University features classrooms and seminar collections adjacent to reading rooms as well as student carrels and faculty studies located in the completely open stacks. Optimumizing service in the five divisional libraries—Philosophy-Theology, Humanities, Social Work Sciences, Education-Psychology, Library Science—periodicals, reserve books, and, to a great extent, reference have been decentralized. (WASHINGTON, D.C.-MARYLAND Unit.)

Personalities 'Cross Country . . .

The NEW ENGLAND Unit recently welcomed into its membership Dr. Vaclav Mosteky, Assistant Librarian for Foreign Law Reference, Harvard Law School. Many will remember that Dr. Mosteky was formerly at the Catholic University Department of Library Science and managed business for C.P.I.

"We are proud to have the able editor of the ABC Bulletin in our Unit," writes the editor of January NEW ENGLAND Unit News Bulletin about Brother Matthew, C.F.X., now at Keith Academy, Lowell, Mass.

Marie G. Abbruzzese, Librarian, Mary's Help College of Nursing, must indeed be a capable and busy person. Secretary of the NORTHERN CALIFORNIA Unit, 1958-1960, she is also Chairman of the Hospital Section of the Unit and editor of the excellent Unit Notes and Quotes. News, ads, ideas, and leads to valuable bibliographies and materials complete the neat ten-page December issue.

Sister Mary Alma, P.B.V.N., Gleeson Library, University of San Francisco, Chairman of the NORTHERN CALIFORNIA Unit, is editor of the revised 1959 edition of the Basic Refer- ence Book List for Catholic High Schools, compiled by the Curriculum Committee of the Archdiocese of San Francisco and Los Angeles. It comprises a subject index arranged by the D.C., a publisher and titles index, an author index, and a magazine index, all in attractive, bright colors. Through the courtesy of A. C. Vroman, Inc. of Pasadena, free copies were distributed to California schools. The $2.00 price includes the next two annual supplements.

Intercollege Cooperation . . .

Immaculate Heart College, Los Angeles, is the only Catholic college participating in the Southern California Union List of Micro-text Editions. In this cooperative project some thirty colleges and university libraries will put on cards their holdings in microfilm, on microcard or microprint. All sets of cards will be duplicated and made available to the participating libraries. This material in many instances may be borrowed on interlibrary loan, but, more important, it will be a means of building up sets of important microtext collections without undue duplication. (CULS, December, 1958)

A new edition of the Union List of Serials in eight Minnesota libraries is expected before June, reports Sister Marie Cecelia, C.S.J., College of St. Catherine, St. Paul. (MINNESOTA-DAKOTA.)

Jesuit librarians of California have begun compilation of a list of periodicals held by five libraries: University of Santa Clara, Loyola University, University of San Francisco, Alma College, and Novitiate of the Sacred Heart. Father John Wright, bibliographer of Varsi Library, University of Santa Clara, is director.

Re-enter Teens . . .

"The shiniest branch of the Boston Public Library, 646 East Broadway, East Boston" was the scene of the January 10 meeting of the NEW ENGLAND Unit. Mrs. Irene Tuttle, Librarian, and Martha C. Engler, Children's Librarian, were hostesses.

In her talk, "Teen-Age Fiction: Fact or Fairytale," Miss M. Jane Manthorne, Reader's Adviser for Young Adults at BPL, maintained that young people will read mature material if guided to it—and they should be guided!

It's a long time since we've been able to feature SLAG in this column. But Ethelmary Oakland, Moderator, sent a copy of the January 10 issue of the Catholic News with a story of the meeting of the Student Library Assistants' Guild to be held that day at St. Vincent Ferrer Commercial High School, New York City. Guest speaker, Milton Lewis, respected crime reporter for the New York Herald Tribune, told the teenage library aides about "Crime and Crime Reporting."

Continuing their Christmas custom of donating books in honor of the Christ Child, members of SLAG presented teen-age books to the new Junior Newman Club at the Bronx School of Science. This school for superior students has an enrollment of 2000, forty of whom are now members of the Junior Newman Club. Father Edward Soares of the Archconfraternity of Christian Doctrine accepted the books for presentation.

In the Future . . .

Just received from the ONTARIO Unit are numbers 2-4 of its splendid News Letter. A delightful letter about "The Cathedral School Library Aides" by Michael Woogh of Kingston, would fit right here, but allotted space for this column has already been exceeded. Excerpts will appear in a later issue.

To her chagrin, this editor learned that the Workshop reported here to have taken place in November has been postponed until April 11. Additional time was required "to obtain the best speakers available." Continued good success to CLA's newest Unit and all the Units!

The first Chairman of the Hospital Section's organized Publicity Committee, current Editor of the Hospitaller and Vice-Chairman and Chairman-elect of the Section, indicates the advantages offered by CLA to Hospital Librarians.

CLA Offers Opportunity for Hospital Librarians to Share Problems and Solutions

The Catholic Library Association assists the librarian in the realization of the full potential of the hospital library with its contribution to the intellectual and professional advancement of the doctor and the nurse, and the comprehensive recovery of the patient.

Present day standards of hospital accreditation and evaluation affect libraries concurrently with other departments of the hospital. They demand well organized libraries, staffed by competent librarians, to meet the needs and advances in medical and nursing education and to provide bibliotherapy techniques for the patient. Cardinal Cushing, speaking at the 1956 CLA Annual Conference in Boston, Massachusetts, emphasized the importance of the three types of hospital libraries

The Medical Library: "It is our obligation not to surrender our hope of assisting in medical alertness because we lack funds for the ideal arrangements. Every Catholic Hospital must strive to do its utmost with intelligence and zeal in order that its doctors may keep up-to-date with current developments by the least expenditure of their time. . . . In the present stage of medical research, no doctor can in conscience fail to keep abreast of general developments in his profession and of developments in his particular field. Every doctor, no matter how competent, must have access to a library. . . ."

Nursing School Library: "The responsibility of the nursing school in this regard is, first to make the student nurse aware of the literature of nursing and of medicine, and second, to implant in her the habit of reading and the desire to keep abreast of research."

Patients Library: "The youngest of libraries in hospitals is the library for patients, which has grown and developed in our generation from the occasional adjunct to the public library into a collection of books chosen not only for the recreation and general welfare of the patient but also as a contribution to his recovery."

Concern for current hospital needs led to the formation of the Hospital Section within the Catholic Library Association to encourage the establishment and further the better organization of libraries for doctors, nurses, patients and personnel according to recognized standards for each type of library, to interest qualified librarians to obtain certification by the Medical Library Association, and to assist and encourage those without formal training who are already in the field.

The CLA fosters new personal and professional friendships throughout the United States and Canada. It provides media for communication

—Conference Institutes and Workshops on the National, Regional and Local Levels

—Hospital Section Publications—Rx Books and Bandages which appears in the Catholic Library World and the Hospitaller (Newsletter of the Hospital Section)— to facilitate the exchange of ideas, the orientation to new library trends and the sharing of problems and solutions.

Problems, once removed from a singular to a commonly shared status, seem to shrink to manageable size. No problem is too simple or too complex—the secret is in the sharing.

"Our hospital is to be surveyed by the Joint Commission. Have I done everything possible to assure the full points allowed for the library?"

"We have great difficulty in controlling books issued to patients in our hospital. Is there any simple, yet efficient, control system?"

"The National League for Nursing will soon examine our school of nursing. Have I overlooked anything in the library which will jeopardize full accreditation?"

"I feel that an integrated library is the key to good library service in our small hospital, but all groups are resistant to the consolidation."

"How do you organize your pamphlets?"

These and other problems, of immediate and vital concern to many librarians, have been met and solved by others. Their varied suggestions can resolve the difficulties of others or at least suggest a satisfactory adaptation. Perhaps it will give the librarian needed confidence to continue present policies and procedures.

The exchange and pooling of ideas often leads to more efficient yet less complicated procedures. An economy of time devoted to routing is affected, releasing the librarian for more creative and educational functions. The librarian is an integral member of the professional team and must be alert to the pivotal position of the hospital library, the hub of the institution. She is charged with the continuing education and intellectual development of the hospital citizen. She must effect optimum usage of the library by making a carefully selected, well organized book collection and tools for literature retrieval readily accessible, by a judicious use of new audio-visual tools and above all, by her own enthusiasm and helpfulness.

To lighten her heavy responsibility, the hospital librarian must fully utilize the aids offered by CLA—the book lists and reviews, reports on new trends and equipment, the contact with other librarians, the stimuli of the Conference speakers. These will help the librarian to better understand her role and the most dynamic way of implementing it. Certainly all School of Nursing Librarians who heard Sister Francis Xavier, G.N.S.H. (D'Youville College, Buffalo, New York) speak at the 1958 CLA Annual Conference in Buffalo, gained new insights into their own role and its relationship to the educational team and came away with a fresh enthusiasm and determination. The librarian who cannot attend the Annual and Regional Conferences may send her problems into The Hospitaller where they will be discussed by competent people in the hospital library field.

The Catholic Library Association provides the framework, the opportunity. Seize this opportunity and the future of your hospital library will indeed be bright.

"A true American, a great churchman, and an apostolic Paulist had left us—and he would be missed. He had been a giant in his times, and the death of giant leaves a large place to be filled." It is these words that end the biography (page 270) of the late Father James Gillis. There will be few, if any, reading Catholics, who do not know at least who Father Gillis was. His columns published in the Catholic papers and his editorials in the Catholic World identified him to thousands of people in the past quarter of a century. The book, James Gillis, Paulist, (Hanover, $3.95) by Father James F. Finley, written in a most attractive style and filled with lively and quotable anecdotes, reveals a deep appreciation for this controversial Paulist. In this instance, one cannot help but be reminded of another such great priest, Father Vincent McNabb, O.P. Biographies of both these religious who labored in the market-places, an English Dominican and an American Paulist, should prove popular in parish libraries.

Looking back over the years at the authors, both great and small, who have written about Saint Joan of Arc, one would think that another biography would not be possible. Yet Sven Stolpe, a Swedish convert to Catholicism, did think so. This author, in The Maid of Orleans (Pantheon, $4.00), sees in Saint Joan not so much the warrior maid as the mystic, and recognizes her mission not so much to deliver France as to share in the passion of Christ. In this shift of emphasis from the national to the universal theme, the well-known story reaches new heights. The author's concept of history, "History was divided into two parts both orientated towards the same point, the period before and the period after God became man" (page 18), adjusts the focus for us early in the book. There is a good deal of history and it is not what could be described as popular biography but it is assuredly a great one. The conclusion in the author's postscript (page 298) is most revealing of the spirit of the book: "Most of all I have learned from the few pages which Leon Bloy devoted to Joan of Arc and from the Christian interpretation of history and of the doctrine of suffering propounded in his works."

Monsignor Joseph P. Kelly does not call his book, Meet Saint Teresa, (Pustet, $3.95) a biography, but states simply, "An introduction to La Madre of Avila." This seems to be exactly what it is, for the author's attempt to bring about in the reader an appreciation particularly for the writings of "Senorita of Old Castile," writings in which this great Saint and mystic never once forgot that God had made her a human being. She has endeared herself to all ages with such words as: "God is there among the pots and pans in the kitchen," or, "We can teach your daughter piety but we can't give her common sense."

He Chose Catherine, (Pageant Press, $3.00) a simple biography written by Sister Mary Paul, O.S.F., is intended for use with young people. The background of Catherine's life is a counterpart of the places in our world today where revolution, religious persecution, and poverty stalk the countries of Europe. This Dutch peasant woman will show any modern girl that a life of self-sacrifice and fidelity to God's law is His highest calling.

Saint Catherine Laboure of the Miraculous Medal, by Father Joseph I. Dirvin, C.M., is what is up to now, the definitive biography. The author spent over ten years gathering the facts in Catherine's native village in Burgundy, in Paris, and in Rome. After such lengthy research one might well expect this book to have become a monument to the Saint, but such is not the case; it has become a human tribute to one who lived a life of obscurity. The story of Catherine Laboure is so well known as to need no retelling here, but the amplification of details in her life which are not generally well-known, makes one read the book with fresh and new wonder. "Not until a few months before her death—and then only because of extreme urgency, did Catherine reveal to her superior that she was the mysterious Sister to whom the Blessed Virgin had manifested the design for the Miraculous Medal forty-six years before." What an example of silence in the world of rumors of the twentieth century.

Mexico, Land of Mary's Wonders, (St. Anthony Guild, $4.00) will undoubtedly prove to be a popular book in a parish library. Father Joseph L. Cassidy has gathered together stories and pictures of twenty-seven shrines which honor our Lady in Mexico. The people of Mexico love our Lady and a picture here or a statue there soon has legends attached to it by Mary's "pious children." And although these stories are not all authentic or incontestable with miracles, nevertheless they do reveal the character and simplicity of the people. The author makes an excellent point in his foreword when he points out that "a culture should not be viewed unfavorably just because it is alien." Thus the photographs in the book reveal the rich brocades, the gold and the jewels with which a people honors the Mother of God.

This is but a brief commentary on some of the books which would be good additions to a parish library.

Special mention should be made of the Parish Library Section of the Minnesota-Dakota Unit. They have held frequent meetings throughout the year, primarily for the purpose of reviewing books. One of the fruitful results of this has been the exchange of duplicate copies. It may be an idea which other parish libraries would like to try.

Children's BOOKS

BY MIRIAM A. WESSEL

Chief, Main Library Children's Room
Detroit Public Library

BARBOUR, Harriet Buxton and Freeman, Warren S. A story of music; illus. by George McVicker. Revised edition. 301 p. 58-10464. Summy-Birchard. $5.50.

A revision of the 1937 edition, which traces the progress of music from early times through the lives of great musicians, showing the relationship of music to history, geography and social progress. The interdependence of musicians of the same period, their influence on the times and on one another, is well brought out. Style of writing is somewhat pedestrian but not mediocre. Chapters are broken up into short labeled sections, making reference use easy. Each chapter is followed by a listing of suitable records. Will not replace How Man Made Music or First Book of Music, since treatment of the subject is from a different point of view in each one. Age 10-14.

BIBLE. Werner, Elsa Jane and Hartman, Charles, comps. A Catholic child's Bible; the New Testament; illus. by Alice Provensen and Martin Provensen. 96 p. Simon and Schuster, 1953. $3.95 (Trade ed.)

A reprint of the earlier editions, with beautiful illustrations and a comprehensive text. Goldencraft edition not available.

BIBLE. Werner, Elsa Jane and Hartman, Charles, comps. A Catholic child's Bible; stories from the Old Testament; illus. by Feodor Rojankovsky. 132 p. Simon and Schuster, 1946, 1958. $3.95 (Trade ed.)

A reprint of the earlier editions, with beautiful illustrations and a comprehensive text. Goldencraft edition not available.

BOARDMAN, Fon W., Jr. Roads. 143 p. 58-10298. Walck. $3.50.

A comprehensive and detailed account of the history and development of roads. Included are descriptions of the machines and materials used and the development of transportation as it has affected man's use of roads. For the older juvenile reader, this has a friendly and informal style. Age 11-13.

BOESCH, Max. Kit Carson of the Old West; illus. by Joshua Tolford. (Vision Book) 189 p. 59-5131. Farrar, Straus and Cudahy. $1.95.

A disappointing biography of the famous scout which presents the story of his life in a choppy fashion, with little coherence either of motives or events. It is of little value from the religious standpoint; his conversion is only mentioned, with little about the influences which led him to become a Catholic, and only brief references to it later. Age 10-12.

BUSONI, Rafaello. The man who was Don Quixote. 209 p. 58-13746. Prentice-Hall. $3.95.

A dramatic account of the life of Miguel Cervantes who created the memorable character of Don Quixote. It opens with a description of the writing of Don Quixote during a period when the author was in prison in 1603, then flashes back to relate the events of his adventurous life. Excellent writing which brings the man and his period intensely alive. Age 12-up.

HOFFMAN, George W. Life in Europe, Austria. 160 p. Fideler. $3.46.

A survey of Austria, geared to the need for social studies material of children in the middle grades. Included in the text are facts on the climate, occupations, customs, physical features, history, government, and outstanding citizens of the country. Simpler in scope than Wohlrabe's The Land and People of Austria. Ellenor Gaillard. Age 11-12.

McSWIGAN, Marie. Small Miracle at Lourdes; illus. by Don Lambo. 122 p. 58-11910. Dutton. $2.50.

A pleasant little story of the meeting at Lourdes, of Jim, a somewhat thoughtless, brash young American boy, and Henri, a French boy who hopes to obtain relief from his affliction—hemophilia. How Henri regains his health and Jim suddenly achieves maturity makes a readable story, but it is unquestionably contrived. Neither does the author succeed in bringing the deep spiritual atmosphere of Lourdes to life. Age 9-11.

ROBERTSON, Keith. Henry Reed, Inc.; illus. by Robert McCloskey. 239 p. Viking. $3.00.

An account of a twelve-year-old boys' summer vacation near Princeton, New Jersey. His various money-making enterprises, in which he is ably assisted by young Margaret Glass, make for the most truly humorous reading we have encountered in a long time. Even the first person, diary-style of writing will not discourage boys from enjoying this. Age 11-13.

SLOBODKIN, Louis. The first book of drawing. 69 p. 58-11352. Watts. $1.95.

The technical problems of drawing, anatomy, perspective, and others, are described simply and clearly. Illustrated with examples of the work of other artists as well as the author. An excellent book for the beginner. Age 10-12.

SWAIN, Su Zan Naguchi. Plants of woodland and wayside. 57 p. 58-5318. Garden City. $2.95.

An introductory book in botany which gives basic information on both common and rare plants. Picture book format, with excellent illustrations. Age 10-14.

TRESSELT, Alvin. Wake up, farm! Pictures by Roger Duvoisin. 28 p. 55-10441. Lothrop. $2.75.

A lively bright picture book which shows an early morning on a farm with the gradual awakening of first the birds and rooster and then the various farm animals. Age 3-6.

WATSON, Jane Werner. The world of science; scientists at work today in many challenging fields; illus. with color photographs. 216 p. Simon. $4.95. $6.65. Goldencraft.

An introduction to methods of investigation used in the fields of geology, astronomy, mathematics, physics, chemistry, biology and engineering. While the book covers many fields, some sciences have received more comprehensive treatment than others, and some less publicized branches of sciences have been touched—immunology and psychobiology. A very interesting and attractive approach to the study of many sciences. Age 10-up.

WEISS, Harvey. Paper, ink and roller; print-making for beginners. 64 p. 58-14993. Wm. R. Scott. $3.50.

An excellent beginning book on the various processes of press, transfer, potato, stencil, cardboard, and linoleum prints that may be made with simple equipment. A final chapter covers woodcuts, silk screen printing, lithography, engraving and etching. Age 10-up.

ZIM, Herbert S. Diamonds. 64 p. 59-5351. Morrow. $2.50.

Similar in style of writing to the author's other books in the science field, this describes the composition of diamonds, where and how they are found, and their various functions, as jewels and their many commercial uses. A brief account is given of the attempts to make synthetic diamonds. Excellent tables and charts and drawings illustrate the text. Age 9-12.

BOOKS for Young People

BY
SISTER M. BERNICE, F.S.P.A.
Marycliff High School
Spokane, Washington

ASIMOV, Isaac. The World of Nitrogen. 160 p. Abelard. $2.75.

The promised companion volume to The World of Carbon has quickly appeared and will be appreciated by science teachers and pupils. A brief review of the carbon atom is included at the beginning before an overall chapter on the importance of nitrogen. Successive chapters discuss such topics as dyes, alkaloids, and heterocyclic rings, including antibiotics, stimulants, sedatives, and more vitamins.

A chapter on the nucleoprotein which "supervises" cell construction and so life itself, comes at the end of the book. Although a great amount of material is covered in the book, it is done so clearly and compactly, with human interest comments in the text, that it will hold interest. Needless to say, the book does offer a challenge, but will be worthwhile for Chemistry students who will find it helpful, and at times fascinating, collateral reading.

BETZ, Eva. K. Priest on Horseback, Father Farmer. illus. by J. Polanso. 150 p. 58-10558. Sheed and Ward. $3.

The book has a rather slight plot about a Swabian Jesuit missionary who had hoped for an assignment to China, but was sent to the British colonies instead. Most of the story center around two fictional characters, rather than Father Farmer. A farmer-trapper's hope for a happy marriage was challenged when a dishonest ship captain indentured his Dutch fiancee for five years. Though this thread is a small pattern, it is well done.

Considerable attention is given to the animosity which exists toward Catholics in the colonies of New York and parts of Pennsylvania, as well as on the dangers attendant on the priests who served these widely dispersed Catholics in the early years.

BRAYBROKE, Neville, ed. T. S. Eliot; A Symposium for His Seventieth Birthday. 221 p. 58-11937. Farrar, Straus, and Cudahy. $5. This collection of fifty poems and essays is truly a eulogy "to the aged eagle of modern literature" on the occasion of his seventieth birthday. The author includes such scholars as Iris Murdoch and John Betjeman, as well as some youthful students in the teen-age brackets. And many teen-agers today have a great devotion to and appreciation of this author.

Although the comments are not profound they do provide a valuable introduction to the many faceted works of Mr. Eliot. He is praised for his power, drama, critical scholarship, translations, morality, politics and serenity.

CHAMBERS. Peggy. A Doctor Alone: a biography of Elizabeth Blackwell. 183 p. 58-5202. Abelard-Schuman. $2.75.

Before Elizabeth Black was admitted to an obscure medical college, she had applied to twenty-nine different schools in 1847. Even after she was accepted she was looked down upon by boarding house keepers, people on the street, newspaper editors and even her own fellow workers.

Her family was a non-conformist type, disapproving of slavery, that emigrated from Bristol to the United States. Elizabeth carried on the tradition by assisting in such causes as abolition, woman suffrage, preventive medicine, as well as in the promotion of a medical college for women. Unfortunately her campaign sometimes attacked positive movements such as vaccination. Her lonely struggle is well brought out. The book is written in an adult fashion.

ESPY, Hilda Cole. Quiet, Yelled Mrs. Rabbit. 251 p. 58-12277. Lippincott. $3.75.

The author writes of her rather difficult problem of solving the many difficulties concerned with raising five children, since her professional preparations for a public relations worker and short story writer did not give her much help in household arts.

Mrs. Espy tells the story of her children with a great deal of laughter, perception and tenderness. A beautiful relationship exists between parents and children, though no indication of an awareness of moral problems is found in the book. The reader does seem to be aware that a vague sense of the need for moral training was felt by the author.

FAULKNER, Nancy. The Yellow Hat. 212 p. 58-9657. Doubleday. $2.95.

This book will be useful to students of English Literature to serve as a background for fourteenth century literature. Adam is a young serf who comes to London during the Peasants' Revolt. Kate, the serving maid to Geoffrey Chaucer, is a principal character.

In London they become involved in the turbulent problems of the day. Help comes to them from the kind and courteous Chaucer who helps them understand the true meaning of freedom for the individual. Younger students will find good recreational reading here; older ones will gain rewarding information on a most interesting period.

FLESCH, Rudolf Franz. A New Way to Better English. 183 p. 58-11386. Harper. $3.

The author of The Art of Plain Talk and The Art of Readable Writing, as well as the very controversial book, Why Johnny Can't Read has brought out this very useful discussion on the problems involved in writing. It will be especially useful for students working on school publications. Indeed it is a fresh approach to communication for all who write.

The author was trained in his native Venice for the law. He came to this country in 1938 where he took a doctorate degree in philosophy at Columbia University in New York. After graduation he taught at New York University and contributed to such publications as Harper and The American Mercury. Dr. Flesch carries on where the typical college and high school text on composition leaves off. He provides a discussion of English as it is often written and spoken today. He lists seventy pompous words and phrases which still haunt many writers today.

He includes many quotations on both "how to write" and "how not to write" from varied sources. Both kinds of writing are thoroughly analyzed in detail. The amateur is shown how to acquire professional techniques in his writing.

FREEMAN, Douglas Southall. Lee of Virginia. 243 p. 58-11643. Scribner $4.50.

Young readers may now profit by the research done by the late author of the four volume definitive study on Robert E. Lee. Mr. Freeman intended his shorter biography of the Confederate General for readers who would not attempt reading the longer treatment.

Students will be able to follow all the details of Lee's life from early boyhood on a Virginia Plantation to the tremendous work of Reconstruction. They will find Lee to be a wholly admirable man who was gifted with a high sense of integrity and dedication to the work of recording such ideas as the southern thinking on the issue of slavery though the moral aspects are ignored. About two-thirds of the book is devoted to the Civil War. Students will be helped to see the Southern Side in this war.

FRIERWOOD, Elizabeth Hamilton. Head High, Ellen Brody. 240 p. 58-9185. Doubleday. $2.95.

Ellen Brody was born on the wrong side of the tracks in a very unattractive American mill town. At seventeen Ellen was determined to make something of herself so that she might move her family into better surroundings. She was more than usually gifted in many ways, but seemed to have special talent in color and design. Since she had sold several designs, she had good reason to hope that perhaps she could become a fashion designer.

Her plans were changed after meeting John Morgan, once a Chicago orphan and a protege of Jane Adams of famous Hull House, and now a director of the newly-reopened settlement house in Milltown. Soliciting the help of Ellen and others, John gradually made Milltown quite a different place. The Pearl Street House was a force among the poverty-stricken, under-privileged people of the community.

Ellen refused the many fine offers as a designer and found tremendous satisfaction in her service to her people. Moreover, she found that she could continue her work after her marriage to John.

A vivid picture is given of the terrible Iroquois fire which she and her friend miraculously escaped. Here is an exceptionally fine story for teen-age girls.

HARROD, Kathryn Z. Master Bridge Builders: The Story of the Roeblings. 192 p. 58-10928. Messner. $2.95.

A fine biography with scientific overtures is found in this story of the man who first created the Niagara Gorge Bridge and the famous Brooklyn Bridge. The elder Roebling died before the Brooklyn Bridge was completed, but his son carried out the thirteen-year project in spite of intense criticism.

The story opens with a description of the elder Roebling's early life and education in Germany. The pioneer days in America was filled with disappointments and achievement. Mr. Roebling was a Colonel in the Civil War, a man of great determination, a prodigious worker with an unusual organizational ability. He had unusual talent in working out theoretical problems of bridge design and was gifted with almost prophetic vision in what we know today as the suspension bridge.

Although Mr. Roebling was devoted to his family, he could become so involved in his work that he would neglect them for a long period of time. He was not able to accept medical science of his day.

GOULD, Jean. That Dunbar Boy: The Story of Americas' Famous Negro Poet. 245 p. 58-13085. Dodd Mead. $3.

Paul Dunbar came by his gift of story telling naturally, since his father often told stories to his little sons. Long exciting stories of escaping from slavery, along with scary stories about "the bogah man" would fill the long evenings.

Paul had an unusual sense of fun which often resulted in his making up rhymes. The author of this biography caught this spontaneous joy which is so characteristic of Dunbar's poetry. His life was difficult, and in many ways a tragic one, but Paul lived it completely.

KING, Martin Luther. Stride Toward Freedom. 230 p. 58-7099. Harper. $2.75.

For students who are social minded enough to be concerned about the serious integration problem in this country, this is a most important book on the current situation in the South.

It is a full account of the Montgomery story which began as a bus strike and ended as a Supreme Court decision. It is also the first successful large scale application of non-violent resistance to an American situation.

Dr. King gives a realistic picture of what it meant to live through one of the most important events in current social problems in this country.

KJELGAARD, James Arthur. The Black Fawn. 215 p. 58-13083. Dodd Mead. $3.

Bud Sloan was farmed out by his orphanage to an elderly couple. He expected to work hard for his board and room, but he did not have any idea how genuinely kind and helpful Gramps and Gram would be.

Gramps knew much about wood lore and shared it with Bud Sloan. It was a memorable day for Bud when he brought home the little black fawn he had found in the woods. He found it difficult, but accepted Gramp's advice, to turn it loose again. For years he strained to catch sight of the animal again, but meantime he grew in wisdom and love of the farm.

The warm relationship which existed between the two generations is beautifully developed. The mutual concern of the elderly couple and the boy will impress young readers. In addition they will gain a knowledge of farm ways and good sportsmanship.

McNEER, May Younge (Mrs. Lynd Kendall Ward). Canadian Story. with illus. by Lynn Ward. (Ariel Books.) 95 p. 58-5187. Farrar, Straus and Cudahy. $4.25.

Canadian Story is a companion book to The Mexican Story in which the author introduces young readers to their northern neighbor in a series of comments on early history, including the history of the Vikings and explorers such as Cartier, as well as contemporary history made by the St. Lawrence Waterway.

Action is supplied through tales of early settlers, savage warfare, stories of Eskimos, travelers, trappers, prospectors, and traders. The author has done well in selecting material which will give a real picture of Canada.

As usual the beautiful pictures by Lynd Ward, reproduced magnificently in lithography, add very much to make this book one of the most unusual ones about Canada. Printed in four colors, the pictures are full of action and drama.

MCGIVERN, William P. and MCGIVERN, Maureen (Daly). Mention My Name in Mombasa: The Unscheduled Adventures of an American Family Abroad. 312 p. 58-10776. Dodd. $3.50.

A husband and wife team of professional writers travel through Europe and Africa and give here their report of the trip. Maureen Daly has been a familiar name to teen-age girls since she wrote her first short story in high school, Sixteen, and won a national prize on it. Her popularity increased when she wrote a sequel to the short story in the novel, Seventeenth Summer.

Maureen and her husband, a professional detective story writer, combine their talents in an unusual report of a trip through Europe and Africa with their two children. The reader is taken through such unusual situations as a bullfighting experience in Spain, a safari in French Equatorial Africa and Maureen's reunion with the Daly family in County Tyrone in Ireland. It will be especially enjoyed by armchair travelers.

MERRIAM, Eve. The Voice of Liberty: The Story of Emma Lazarus. (Covenant Book.) 179 p. 59-6067 Farrar, Straus and Cudahy. $2.95.

Here is a biography of the Jewish-American woman who wrote the famous lines engraved on the pedestal of the Statue of Liberty. "The New Colossus" will take on a new meaning for young readers after they have read the life of this courageous woman who spent her life fighting for the welfare of the immigrants.

Born in 1849 in Manhattan, one of seven children of a Jewish emigrant, she traveled widely and had many friendships with men like Ralph Waldo Emerson and Robert Browning.

Her life was filled with battles—for the underprivileged, the immigrant, the establishment of a Jewish nation in Palestine, for freedom of all kinds.

RITCHIE, Rita. The Golden Hawks of Genghis Khan; illus. by Lorence F. Bjorklund. 191 p. 58-9567 Dutton. $3.

Khan's great Mongol empire was rapidly expanding in 1218. Jalair is journeying to the Khan's capital to avenge his father's death and to win back a pair of Golden Hawks which the Mongols stole from his country. These hawks were a special breed developed by his father. Jalair had always been told that Genghis Khan slew his father and then stole the birds.

To his amazement Jalair discovers that the Mongols were not the criminals he thought them to be, though he cannot forget his childhood training in hatred and determination to avenge the death of his father.

The reader will enjoy the rapid action of the story; event following on event with an air of mystery hanging over all. The story indicates a great amount of research on the part of the author into the Mongolian way of life.

ROBERTSON, Keith. If Wishes Were Horses. illus. by Paul Kenedy. 246 p. 58-5841. Harper. $2.95.

Fourteen-year-old orphan Steven McGowan comes to Black Hawk, Iowa, in 1910 to live with his aunt and uncle. The livery stable in the early 1900's played an important part in transportation and is owned by his friendly and understanding uncle. Steven, who is cripplled with a club foot, is fascinated by the new experience.

He is especially delighted with a beautiful horse named Copper Lady, who becomes a real friend. Although the plot and characterization is ordinary, the book does give a good picture of life in Iowa in the early Twentieth Century in the description of Fourth of July celebrations, impromptu horse races, tornadoes and threshing bees.

WIBBERLY, Leonard. Wes Powell, Conquer of the Grand Canyon. 216 p. 58-10764.

(Ariel Book) Farrar, Straus and Cudahy. $3. In his boyhood, Powell is introduced to the great book of the earth's surface. Later without training and minus one arm, amputated in a Civil War injury, he led a party of inexperienced explorers down the rivers of the Colorado system and then into the Grand Canyon. Incredible difficulties marked the trip so that Powell was not able to make the hoped for scientific investigation. But the basis of further study was laid and the river system had been conquered.

Wes Powell was directly responsible for the United States Geological Survey and for the United States Bureau of Ethnology. He was the first chief of this bureau and the second of the United States Geological Survey.

Though the author begins his story with some characterization, this becomes a minor factor as the story goes on. The exploration of the rivers is the real story which almost tells itself. The author handles the details well. The rest of the story is anti-climactic, but interesting. The book is not the best of writing but it is good reporting.

Architecture

BAER, Kurt. Architecture of the California Missions. 195 p. 58-11928. Univ. of Cal. Press. $10.00.

This interesting volume presents in text and photographs the chain of missions set up by the Franciscans in California in the eighteenth and nineteenth centuries. The architectural style and the materials of construction are discussed, and a brief history of each mission is provided.

BORISSAVLIEVITCH, M. The Golden Number. 91 p. 1958. Philosophical Library. $4.75. A specialized but important study of aesthetics in architecture.

SCHWARZ, Rudolf. The Church Incarnate. illus. 230 p. 58-10536. Regnery. $7.50. The function of church architecture in the total mission of the church is discussed by a master builder of churches in Germany.

STODDARD, Whitney S. Adventure in Architecture. 127 p. 57-13215. Longmans. $8.50. The project of building the physical plant of the Benedictine community and College of St. John's is here portrayed in text, picture, and plan. It is a valuable commentary on notions in architecture and the relation of form and function.

Art

APPLETON, Leroy H. Symbolism in Liturgical Arts; illus. 128 p. by Leroy H. Appleton and Stephen Bridges. April 1959. Scribner. $3.95. This practical handbook illustrates and explains the 134 symbols most commonly used in religious art and liturgical practices.

BALLO, Guido. Modern Italian Painting; from Futurism to the present day. 215 p. 1958. Praeger. $30.

Here, in 155 full color plates, the work of every important modern Italian artist is represented, and in the accompanying text Guido Ballo has traced the history of all the art movements which have appeared in Italy since 1900, together with detailed biographical and critical analyses of the individual artists and their paintings.

BLAND, David. A History of Book Illustration; the illuminated manuscript and the printed book. 320 p. 1958. World. $15.00.

Traces the development of book illustration from the earliest days of the illuminated manuscript to the printed book of the present day. Through a careful selection of salient and typical books from every period, the author shows the essential unity of the two forms of art and the sameness of the problems that faced the medieval illustrator and still face the contemporary graphic artists.

DIRINGER, David. The Illuminated Book, Its History and Production. 524 p. plates. 58-3435. Philosophical Library. $25.00.

The bulk of this book covers illumination of Christian manuscripts. Contents range from "Ancient Methods of Book Illustration" to "The Golden Age of Illumination."

The Moderns and Their World. Introducion by Sir John Rotherstein. 1958. N.Y. Philosophical Library. $12.00.

This volume of 96 reproductions of the best or most representative work of major painters from Cezanne to contemporary figures illustrates well the courage and schools of modern art.

The Praeger Picture Encyclopedia of Art; illus. 600 p. 1958. Praeger. $17.50.

Two hundred of the world's greatest masterpieces are reproduced in full color. These are supplemented by 400 black-and-white pictures illustrating masterworks of architecture, plastic art, graphic art, and crafts such as ceramics, furniture, enamelware, porcelain, jewelry, etc.

SCHAFFRAN, Emerich. Dictionary of European Art. 1958. Philosophical Library. $4.75.

This handbook briefly explains the important terms in art and architecture from antiquity to the present, and gives brief biographies of artists and descriptions of masterworks. An introduction outlines the history of art of various schools.

SIMON, Howard. Primer of Drawing. 58-7605. Sterling. $2.95.

This illustrated volume presents a system of drawing based on attention to form and organization. It is aimed at intelligent beginners.

THOMAS, Bob. Walt Disney, The Art of Animation; illus. 188 p. 1958. Simon and Schuster. $5.95.

The story of the development of motion picture cartoons during the past fifty years. Discusses the history of animation using beautiful pictures of Disney favorites. Steps in making a cartoon are graphically portrayed.

Biography and Personal Narrative

AMOURY, Daisy. Father Cyclone. 253 p. 58-7845. Julian Messner, Inc. $3.95.

An account of the wartime career of Redemptorist Father Lawrence Lynch, who was killed while administering to a dying soldier on Okinawa.

ANSON, Peter. Abbot Extraordinary: A Memoir of Dom Aelred Carlyle, O.S.B. 310 p. May, 1959. Sheed and Ward. $4.00.

Dom Aelred was Abbot of the Benedictines of Caldey, an Anglican community which came into the Church as a body. He resigned and went to Vancouver where he had great success as a secular priest working with the poor and with prisoners.

BECKER, Kurt, S.J. I Met a Traveler. 208 p. 58-9448. Farrar, Straus and Cudahy. $3.50.

The story of Thomas Phillips, S.J., who was imprisoned in Shanghai by the Chinese Communists in June 1953 and not released until June 1956. Against Communist boasts of freedom of religion, Father Phillips, jailed on the charge of being a spy, stubbornly insisted that his only crime was that he was a priest. His dogged stand made him a liability and an embarrassment to the Communists and eventually led to his release.

BRISTOW, K. S. Moro Magic in Mindanao. Academy Library Guild. 1958. $5.00.

A book of reminiscences of the Philippines at the time of the Moro uprisings. Mrs. Bristow made firm friends among the natives and in these warm and unassuming memoirs of the islands between the wars, she has concocted her own kind of magic.

BROWN, Raphael (ed. and tr.). The Little Flowers of St. Francis. 1958. Hanover House. $3.95.

This new translation of the classic best-loved stories of St. Francis and his followers reflects Raphael Brown's deep personal feeling for things Franciscan.

CADY, Dr. Edwin Harrison. William Dean Howells, Dean of American Letters. 1958. 2v. Syracuse Univ. Press. $10.00.

A complete biography of William Dean Howells, influential American critic, editor and novelist.

CARMELITE NUN. The Nun's Answer. 174 p. 1958. Regnery. $3.50.

A nun who did not leap over the wall writes pleasantly of her life within the convent. The book reveals movingly the joys of religious life.

CATHERINE THOMAS OF DIVINE PROVIDENCE, Mother, D.C. My Beloved; the Story of a Carmelite Nun. 239 p. 1959. Doubleday (Image). $7.50.

A Carmelite nun, an American, tells the story of life in one of the oldest, most austere and most strictly cloistered orders of nuns in the church.

CATTA, Canon Etienne. Basil Anthony Mary Moreau. by Canon Etienne Catta and Tony Catta. 1013 p. (Vol. 1 and 2). 55-11616. Bruce. $30.00.

The life of the founder of the Congregation of the Holy Cross (C.S.C.) is here told in detail in a massive, thoroughly annotated biography that presents every facet of the career of the subject against the historical background.

COAKLEY, Mary Lewis. Mister Music Maker Lawrence Welk. 280 p. 58-6634. Doubleday. $3.95.

A biography of the very popular entertainer who left a North Dakota farm to become a nationally prominent figure in the entertainment field, especially on television.

CORCORAN, Sister Mary Louise, S.S.M.N. Seal of Simplicity. 280 p. 1959. Newman. $3.50.

The life of the first superior in America of the Sisters of St. Mary of Namur, Mother Emilie.

CRONIN, Vincent. A Pearl to India. illus. April 1959. Dutton. $4.50.

Biography of the first missionary to establish Christianity in the interior of India. Roberto de Nobili, S.J. (1577-1656), gave up wealth and position in Italy to spread the Word of God. When he died there were thousands of Christians in Southern India, where Christianity had previously been unknown.

CUNLIFF, Marcus. George Washington: Man and Monument. 58-7859. Little, Brown. $4.00.

This is no elaborate biography, but rather a studious attempt to separate the myths and legends about Washington from the realities.

EDWARDS, Charlotte. Heaven on the Doorstep: A Woman's Experience in Faith. 149 p. 58-5623. Hawthorn. $3.00.

The path to faith that began with the reception of a medal of St. Jude is here recounted; a Catholic, a Protestant, a Jew, and an unbeliever all were influenced by the lesson of the medal.

FINLEY, James F., C.S.P. James Gillis, Paulist. 270 p. 58-12042. Hanover House. $3.95.

A biography of one of the best-known, most respected priests of our time. Vivid portrait of a personality whose violent criticism of Hitler, Mussolini and Stalin, and later of President Roosevelt, made him one of the most talked about figures on the American scene. A lecturer and missioner, his radio talks on the weekly Catholic hour were listened to by millions.

FITTKAU, Rev. Gerhard A. My Thirty-third Year. 263 p. 58-6459. Farrar. $3.00.

The experience of a German priest imprisoned by the Russians at the end of World War II. Shipped by boxcar to the frigid Pechora section of the USSR, Father Fittkau survived where thousands died. How he survived is this story, a story of faith.

FLORIAN, Sister M., O.S.F. Chamber Music.

142 p. 1958. Pageant. $2.50.

This is the lively, richly anecdoted story of the life of a convent-nun who is also a poet; the book records her conversion and introduction to the life of a religious.

FOWLIE, Wallace, Paul Claudel. 111 p. 1958. New York, Hiliary House. $2.00.

A critical study of Claudel the man, the poet, the dramatist, the apologist.

FREUCHEN, Peter. The Arctic Year. by Peter Freuchen and Finn Salomonsen. 438 p. 58-7165. Putnam. $5.95.

The Danish explorer and his friend give a month-by-month account of adventures and studies made in a year's stay in the Arctic. As naturalists, the authors give vivid and authoritative portraits of the flora and fauna of the area.

FUCHS, Sir Vivian. The Crossing of Antarctica. by Sir Vivian Fuchs and Sir Edmund Hillary. 328 p. 59-5292. Little, Brown. $7.50.

The story of the Commonwealth Transantarctic Expedition. On Nov. 24, 1957 Dr. Vivian Fuchs and 11 men set out to cross 2,500 miles of treacherous crevasses, waves of ice like a choppy sea, intense cold, blizzards, rack-ing winds and the "whiteout" phenomenon. They reached their destination 99 days later.

GILLIS, James M., C.S.P. My Last Book. 246 p. 58-5664. Kenedy. $3.95.

The controversial priest-journalist in the last months of his life wrote these comments on man and his many problems and distractions, and on ways of overcoming the temptations of the world.

GUARESCHI, Giovanni. My Secret Diary. 234 p. 58-10148. Farrar, Straus & Cudahy. $3.75. The author of the Dom Camillo stories gives his wartime experiences with the comic gusto that is the mark of his fiction.

HAMILTON, Marguerite. Borrowed Angel. 287 p. 58-12044. Hanover House. $3.75.

A mother's story of her daughter who was born with a rare and painful disease. It tells of Nancy Hamilton's last two years when she found brief moments of pleasure with other crippled children at a summer camp, and received deep spiritual benefits at the Shrine of Lourdes. Her experiences at school and the courage accompanying her inevitable death are inspirational.

HANDLIN, Oscar. Al Smith and His America. 207 p. 57-6446. 1958. Atlantic-Little, Brown. $3.50.

The foremost authority on immigration to America here presents a brief but illuminating biography of the Catholic politician and the society in which he strived and suffered.

HATCH, Alden. The Miracle of the Mountain. 224 p. 59-6878. Hawthorn. $4.95.

The story of Brother Andre and the shrine on Mount Royal. Many persons on the American continent believe they have been cured of grave illnesses by the prayers of this saintly brother. Mr. Hatch's biographical work is backed by the sworn testimony of eye-witnesses, medical records, and the frankly astonished concurrence of leading physicians.

HOLDEN, Vincent F., C.S.P. The Yankee Paul: Isaac Thomas Hecker. illus. 508 p. 58-12230. Bruce. $6.95.

Written by the Paulist archivist, this opening volume covers Father Hecker's first 38 years, up to the foundation of the Paulists in 1858.

HOTCHKISS, Christine. Home to Poland. 247 p. 58-7837. Farrar, Straus & Cudahy. $3.95.

This is an eye-witness account of life in Poland today by a Polish-born American woman who returned there and interviewed many important figures in both the political and religious life of the nation.

KANE, Rev. George L., ed. Why I Became A Missioner. 250 p. 1958. Newman. $3.25.

Twenty priests, Brothers, Sisters, laymen and a bishop tell the stories of their vocations and describe their experiences as missioners.

KELLY, Mary Ellen. But With the Dawn, Rejoicing. 224 p. July 1959. Bruce. $3.50.

The story of Mary Ellen Kelly, a victim of rheumatoid arthritis and how she overcame her crippling handicap to accept the will of God.

KITTNER, Glenn D. The Woman God Loved. 235 p. 59-6363. Hanover House. $3.95.

Biography of Anne-Marie Javouhey, a French farm girl who became an outstanding religious figure of the nineteenth century. During the French Revolution she risked her life many times smuggling priests out of the country. She later became a nun, founded the Sisters of St. Joseph of Cluny and traveled through Africa, South America and the West Indies working for the dark-skinned people of the world. She had many supernatural experiences and was beatified by Pope Pius XII in 1950. Her canonization is now under consideration.

KUNTZ, Frank Anthony. Undergraduate days. 139 p. illus. 1958. Catholic Univ. of America. Press. $3.00.

The president of the Class of 1907 of Catholic University reminisces on his undergraduate days.

LA FARDE, John, S.J. An American Amen. 254 p. 58-12483. Farrar, Straus & Cudahy. $4.00.

Father LaFarge's new book is a personal commentary which, to some extent, takes up where The Manner Is Ordinary left off. He writes: ". . . In part one, I speak as an American, of our responsibility to our country. In part two, I talk as a priest, of our responsibility to ourselves, in order that we may reach right decisions. In part three, I venture some impressions that I have formed as to the responsibility of intellectuals to the human race as a whole."

LECLERCQ, Jacques. Thunder in the Distance. 322 p. 58-5884. Sheed & Ward. $5.00.

This is a penetrating biography of Father Vincent Lebbe, a Belgian missionary to China early in the century. He saw the necessity of identifying himself with the culture of his flock and therefore promoted a native clergy and hierarchy.

LEETHAM, Claude Richard. Rosmini: Priest, Philosopher and Patriot. 508 p. 1958. 57-10748. Helicon. $7.50.

The documented life of a controversial nineteenth century Italian who founded the Institute of Christian Charity (Rosminians).

LEVI, Carlo. Words Are Stones. 58-10512. Far-rar, Straus & Cudahy. $3.75.

This book, by the author of Christ Stopped at Eboli, records impressions of life in Sicily in all its human beauty and squalor.

LORD, Daniel A., S.J. Played By Ear. 358 p. 1959. Doubleday (Image). $9.5.

The autobiography of Father Lord.

LUNN, Arnold. And Yet So New. 244 p. 58-14453. Sheed & Ward. $3.75.

A convert to Catholicism, Lunn's book covers his past 25 years as a Catholic.

McGLOIN, Joseph T., S.J. Backstage Missionary: Father Dan Lord, S.J. 134 p. 58-14138. Pageant. $2.75.

The biography of the famous Jesuit priest and journalist.

- McGOEY, John H. Nor Scrip Nor Shoes. 280 p. 58-11437. Little, Brown. $4.00. The true story of a missionary priest, of how and why he entered the priesthood, of his missionary work in China, his loneliness and poverty there, and of the sudden succession of physical disabilities which struck at his life.
- MADELEVA, Sister M., C.S.C. My First Seventy Years. 59-6135. Macmillan. $3.50. The auto-biography of a nun who has been a teacher, poet, critic, lecturer and author. Probably no other nun has participated as widely in world affairs or has so profoundly affected educational developments, both here and abroad.
- MAST, Sister M. Dolorita, S.S.N.D. Through Caroline's Consent. 276 p. 1958. School Sisters of Notre Dame. $4.00. The biography of Caroline Gerhardinger, the foundress of The School Sisters of Notre Dame.
- MEAGHER, George T. With Attentive Ear and Courageous Heart. A Biography of Mother Mary Kasper, Foundress of the Poor Handmaids of Jesus Christ. 258 p. 1958. Bruce. $4.00. The biography of the foundress of an order that was established in Germany and is now active in the United States in the social service field.
- MELVILLE, Annabelle M. Jean Lefebvre de Cheverus. 527 p. 58-13623. Bruce. $9.00. This comprehensive biography of the first Bishop of Boston throws light not only on the man but on the society of the early nineteenth century in America. Illustrations and a bibliography help make this work very valuable.
